NUMB. 5092

TUESDAY, JUNE 4, 1745.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

Petersburgh, May 15.

THE fine Season inviting her Imperial Majesty to taste the Pleasures of the Country, she is gone for some time to Quathermehoff, where the Vice-Chancellor, M. de Worenzoff, has Orders to attend her, and dispatch the necessary Business of the Court. Prince Augustus of Holstein is to make a grand Feast on the Marriage of his Daughters; and has lately entertain'd the Foreigners in the most elegant manner. M. de Rose, on the 13th, a noble Feast on the Anniversary of the Queen, his Mistress's, Birth-day. On the 14th Cedercreutz, Ambassador from Sweden, paid Dinner on the Prince Successor's Birth-day. The Feast which M. D'Allion is preparing on the Dauphin's Marriage, is to exceed all that have been seen here. It is observed, that giving any Offence, that Minister neither pays nor receives any, from any of the Prussian Nobility.

May 29. It is thought that the Negotiation which has been so long carrying on with the Court, in reference to a Body of Troops that are taken into his Britonick Majesty's Pay, is broke off; M. Bernsdorff having had Orders to tell Mr. Titley, that his Danish Majesty finding himself altogether inconsistent with the Empire into which he is entered with the Crown of Dauphiness to be excused in that Particular. Their Health is perfect, and amuse themselves with diversions of the fine Season; particularly viewing several Corps of Horse and Foot, which, forsooth, have been drawn from their several Regiments into the neighbourhood of this City. The Troops might, very possibly, give Occasion to Report spread not long ago, of some Migrations making here; for which otherwise no Manner of Foundation. It is said, we began our Plan of Negotiation at the Court of Copenhagen; and that, by the Help of a new Medium, shall be able to adjust all the Differences between Crown and the Family of Holstein, to the Satisfaction of both Parties.

May 15. The Army of General Count de Saxe arrived at Spezzia, we send thither daily a quantity of Provisions, which had been secured in time by the Spanish Commissioners; for, if it had been a very difficult Matter to have them, the Scarcity here being greater than known. The French Troops assembled at Genoa in Motion to join the Army of the Infante of Spain; their Cavalry is already in full March for Genoa, and Three of their Regiments have passed the Varo. The Infantry are preparing to follow them; from whence it is evident, that they, as well as the Spaniards, are to act on this and not on that of Barcelonetta, as we had imagined. There is arrived at Villa-Franca a very Convoy for the Service of these Troops, with a considerable Number of Recruits on board; and another Sail of large Transports at Monaco, with Arms, Ammunition, Provisions, and some Troops. We say precisely of what Force the Combined Army will be, undoubtedly, it will be much more numerous than was expected. This Morning we received more of Spanish Money.

May 26. The Second and Third Columns of the Hesse-Cassel Militia, were reviewed, on the 23d, by the Duke and the Grand Duke; who both testified entire Satisfaction, at their fine Appearance, to the Duke of Saxe-Hilbroughausen, who was at their Head. The Review, these Forces immediately continued March for Silesia. The Baggage of his Royal Highness was actually sent out for the Army on the Rhine; but the Grand Duke has deferred his Departure till after Midsummer, that he may receive an Answer to some Letters that have been sent to Baron Jaxheim, at Milford. We have a great deal of good News from France, where our Light-armed Forces, and the Infantry gain every Day new Advantages over the Prussians. Orders have been dispatched to Field-Marshal Tsun, to hasten his March to Frankfort; and Bathani has Instructions to press the Association of Circles, that we may be the sooner in a Condition to drive the French entirely out of Germany, and thereby gain an Opportunity of sending a very large Detachment into the Low Countries, which is what our Court has much at Heart.

Frankfort, June 3. The Baron de Kesselstadt, the Baron de Erthal, and Chancellor Benz, are the Three Ministers appointed by the Elector of Mainz to the Dye of Election. The Day before Yesterday the Regulation was published, that the Burghers are to observe during the Continuance of the Dye. The Prince of Constance is gone from Heidelberg to Wimpfen on the Neckar, and is laying Bridges over that River, as if he intended to march, and give Field-Marshal Traun Battle; which, however, nobody expects here; especially since it has been known, that the Austrian Hussars of Bathani's Army have been seen in the County of Nassau, Idstein, and even within less than Five Leagues of the Main. This Moment we have received certain Advice, that Count Bathani is in full March, with all his Forces, through the Country of Westerwald into that of Hesse, where he proposes to join Field-Marshal Count Traun. The French Ministers here are grown exceedingly modest; and, instead of levying fresh Contributions, not only pay ready Money for the Forage and Provisions sent to their Army, but even talk of liquidating and drawing Bills for the immense Contributions which were formerly levied. An Apartment is furnishing here in a superb Manner, as is supposed, for the Grand Duke.

Extract of a Private Letter from the Camp of the Allies, dated Lessines, June 3, 1745.

It is very certain, that the Resolution taken to defend the Citadel of Tournay, has greatly disappointed the Enemy; who had taken a Resolution, on their Side, of as great Importance, which is now entirely defeated. We talk of nothing, we long for nothing, so much as another Engagement; the Usage our Wounded and Prisoners has received, has inspired a Desire of Fighting not to be expressed. Our Recruits and Reinforcements arrive beyond our Expectations, so that we are now much stronger than when we attempted to force the French Camp. A Council of War was held Yesterday Morning, since which it is reported, we shall, in a few Days, pass the Scheld at Oudenard, and advance towards the Enemy. Field-Marshal Count Konigsegg has sent M. Constant, one of his Aid de Camps, to Brussels, to concert certain Measures with Count de Caenitz, in reference to the approaching Motion of our Troops. The Officers of the Regiment of Hesse-Homburg, that behaved ill at the Battle of Fontenoy, have been broke, and rendered incapable to serve. The Co-onel pleaded, in his own Defence, that he had always behaved well before, and was able to prove it: But Major-General Veldman told him, that he had better let it alone; for that a Brave Man, who acted the Coward, deserved a much severer Sentence than a real Coward. We have intercepted a Letter from the Army of the Prince of Conti, by which it appears his Highness has declared, he can send no Succours into the Low Countries, without being obliged to abandon Germany; but that, nevertheless, he would hold them ready to march, in case his Reasons should not prevail.

COUNTRY NEWS.

Bristol, June 1. Last Thursday arriv'd in Kingroad the Sheerness Privateer, belonging to this Port, Capt. John Farnell; and the Boscombe Privateer, of Dartmouth; with the Five Homeward-bound Martinique Men, their Prize, lately mention'd. Several of the French Privateers give Information, that one of their Fleet was a Brig, on board of which the other Ships had put their Money before the Action came on; and being a good Sailor, got off during the Warmth of the Action. They likewise say, that there were several Passengers of Figure, with their Effects, on board the La Maria Pierot, which was sunk; and that out of the whole Number on board, only the Captain, 16 Men, and one Woman, were saved.

The Loss on board the Privateers is only one Man kill'd on board the Boscombe; a Boy's Leg shot off on board the Sheerness; and several others wounded, but not dangerous. How many of the Enemy were kill'd, is unknown, because they flung their Dead into the Sea as they fell.

Seven different Draughts of every Scene of Action in the Mediterranean, on the 11th, 12th, and 13th of February, 1743-4, (giving as full and plain an Idea of every Position, as if it was really in View, to any Capacity) from the Originals, on Seven Imperial Sheets; laid before the Honourable House of Commons by Vice-Admiral Leftock; with Historical and Critical Remarks and References engraved on each Plate, finely engraved by Meiff Parr; infinitely surpassing, in every Sense, all that has appeared in this Way; and contain the most perfect System of Naval Discipline extant.

Yet some of those were put'd by all the mean Artifices in the Power of Tim-Narrow-Top, &c. Hackney-Garrett-Scribblers, who compose their yawning Lueburens over Ale and Gin, and Retail it by the Ell, to the Proprietors of such scandalous Stuff.

To which is prefixed the LIFE of the Author, newly compiled from Materials more ample and authentic than have yet been published. By Mr. OLDEYS.

Sir WALTER RALEIGH's History of the World is a Work of so vast a Composiſon, such endless Variety, that no Genius, but one adventurous as his own, durſt have undertaken that great Design. I do not apprehend any great Difficulty in collecting and common-placing an Universal History from the whole Body of Historians; that is nothing but mechanic Labour. But to digest the ſeveral Authors in his Mind, to take in all their Majesty, Strength, and Beauty, to raise the Spirit of meaneſt Historians, and to equal all the Excellencies of the best, is Sir Walter's peculiar Praise. His Style is the moſt perfect, the happiest, and moſt beautiful, of the Age he wrote in; majestic, clear, and manly; and he appears every where ſo ſuperior, rather than unequal to his Subject, that the Spirit of Rome and Athens seems to be breathed into his Work.
